DETAILED ACTION

1. This office action is in response to the amendments of 9/10/2007. It is noted that claims 1, 4, 9, 10, 12, 13, 15, 19, 21-25, 30, and 31 have been amended and claims 11, 29, and 32 have been added. The pending claims are now 5-8, 11, 29, and 32.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 11, 29, and 32 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Young 6,162,046.

Young discloses a capillary device for vaporizing liquid including a liquid receiving surface 12, to receive liquid, a heat transfer component 20, further including at least one opening 22 for the release of vapor, at a velocity greater than zero, and a porous insulation component, the improvement comprising at least one gas release passageway (the receiving surface 12 will also provide the at least one passageway due to its porous nature, dissolved gas would be able to escape back through the bottom of the receiving surface through at least one of these pores) for the escape of dissolved gas from the capillary device, wherein the gas release passageway is independent of gas communication with the vapor release opening 22. Young further discloses a vapor treatment element 16 capable of treating vapor prior to its release.

Art Unit: 3746

Young also disclose that the received liquid comprises a variety of liquid fuels, including fuels such as gasoline, white gas, diesel fuel, kerosene, JP8, alcohols such as ethanol and isopropanol, biodiesel, and combinations of liquid fuels (see col. 6, lines 26-46); thus capable of pumping just about any liquid.

Double Patenting

4. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

5. Claims 5-8 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1 and 16 of U.S. Patent No. 6,634,864.

Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because of the following reasons:

Art Unit: 3746

U.S. Patent No. 6,634,864 discloses the claimed invention except for the vaporization component, the heat transfer component, and insulation component being in an annular arrangement, wherein the fluid flow is from a center area of the device to an outer periphery of the device or from an outer periphery of the device to a center area of the device. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention arrange the components annularly, since such a modification would amount to a mere change in shape. It has been held that a change in form or shape is generally recognized as being within the level of ordinary skill in the art, absent any showing of unexpected results. In re Dailey, 357 F.2d 669, 149 USPQ 47 (CCPA 1966) (see MPEP 2144.04 IV. B - Changes in Shape).

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims, 11, 29, and 32 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

7. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
